

The most evil invention ever created by man is everywhere, in every country, and controls everything. With more power than a totalitarian regime or a brutal dictator, the clock controls nearly everything we do. Both personally and publicly.

If the clock says 4, we do one thing. If it says 6 we do another. If it doesn't say 8 yet, we wait and do nothing until the clock says we can.

We don't conduct any thing or any activities at all in our lives except that the clock regulates it. Oh, how much grief, despair, and anxiety we experience from trying to keep up with the clock.

The clock is hung high up on the wall. We look up to it, respect it, and conduct our lives according to its every number. Sounds like the epitome of idolatry if you ask me.

brikorn.com

The most evil invention ever created by man is everywhere, in every country, and controls everything. With more power than a totalitarian regime or a brutal dictator, the clock controls nearly everything we do. Both personally and publicly.

If the clock says 4, we do one thing. If it says 6 we do another. If it doesn't say 8 yet, we wait and do nothing until the clock says we can.

We don't conduct any thing or any activities at all in our lives except that the clock regulates it. Oh, how much grief, despair, and anxiety we experience from trying to keep up with the clock.

The clock is hung high up on the wall. We look up to it, respect it, and conduct our lives according to its every number. Sounds like the epitome of idolatry if you ask me.

brikorn.com

The most evil invention ever created by man is everywhere, in every country, and controls everything. With more power than a totalitarian regime or a brutal dictator, the clock controls nearly everything we do. Both personally and publicly.

If the clock says 4, we do one thing. If it says 6 we do another. If it doesn't say 8 yet, we wait and do nothing until the clock says we can.

We don't conduct any thing or any activities at all in our lives except that the clock regulates it. Oh, how much grief, despair, and anxiety we experience from trying to keep up with the clock.

The clock is hung high up on the wall. We look up to it, respect it, and conduct our lives according to its every number. Sounds like the epitome of idolatry if you ask me.

brikorn.com

The most evil invention ever created by man is everywhere, in every country, and controls everything. With more power than a totalitarian regime or a brutal dictator, the clock controls nearly everything we do. Both personally and publicly.

If the clock says 4, we do one thing. If it says 6 we do another. If it doesn't say 8 yet, we wait and do nothing until the clock says we can.

We don't conduct any thing or any activities at all in our lives except that the clock regulates it. Oh, how much grief, despair, and anxiety we experience from trying to keep up with the clock.

The clock is hung high up on the wall. We look up to it, respect it, and conduct our lives according to its every number. Sounds like the epitome of idolatry if you ask me.

brikorn.com

Ban the Clock!

Ban the Clock!

Ban the Clock!

Ban the Clock!